	Post Sentence Sanctions
Post Sentence Sanctions	Post-sentence sanctions will be utilized at the discretion of Probation and the Court with input from the State and the Defense. Sanctions may be imposed for violations of the following conditions of probation which include, but are not limited to: drug and/or alcohol use; failure to appear for drug and/or alcohol testing; failure to remain in contact with probation agent; non-compliance with treatment; violation of the contact order; and failure to remain in law-abiding. Whether or not to file a probation violation with the Court is a discretionary decision of the agent. Prior to filing such a violation, the agent may informally handle a violation by restructuring probation in order to ensure compliance with conditions of probation. Examples of such restructuring may include, but are not limited to, requiring more frequent reporting, treatment, or testing. If a formal probation violation is filed with the Court, it may result in any of one or more of the following sanctions: community service work, increased review hearings, increased testing, additional evaluations, jail time, revoking a stay of imposition of sentence, or execution of sentence.
